AMERICANS CHASE GERMAN OVER AISNE

WATER IS PROBLEM NOT CHANGED FOR TEN YEARS

Purpose of TRIBUNE Is to Show All Facts From Eastbay Records and Personal Investigation in Effort to Better Supply SYSTEM WILL BE TRACED

By HARRY L. SULLY
"The water question must be solved."
Again and again that statement has been reiterated in city council, board of public works, mass meeting, committee meeting, court hearing and improvement club for the past generation or more in the Eastbay cities. Injunctions, mandamus and appeals have dragged their way through the courts until acres of paper have been smeared with ink in setting forth the transcripts of testimony and arguments of counsel. Elections have been held and campaigns made until more acres of print paper have been blackened with more ink setting forth speeches, statements, arguments, appeals to the voter.

The water question stands today where it did ten years ago, when the Oakland city council instructed its city attorney to take the very action that is now proposed by the Berkeley city council, that of acquiring the water company's local plant under eminent domain proceedings. The only difference today is that the need for a solution has become more pressing and that new complexities have added to the confusion surrounding the situation.

WHAT IS SOLUTION OF WATER QUESTION?
What is the solution to the water question? No intelligible answer can be given to that question without first taking into account the various arguments, contentions, remedies. Facts there have been, buried in tabular statements, statistics, financial reports, transcripts of testimony. But never has there been a thoroughgoing effort to take this mass of material, weed out fact from fable and opinion and argument and to spread those facts before the persons most vitally interested in understandable form.

This is the purpose of the TRIBUNE in beginning a series of articles on the water situation. The facts will be taken from the records of the Eastbay Water Company and the Berkeley Water Company, and as these are available, from the records of the State Railroad Commission, from court proceedings, from financial statements and from personal investigation as to conditions as they exist today. They will not be sought to bolster up any theory, either defending or attacking the water company. They will be culled and presented for their significance as facts which throw a light upon how the present water famine has been prevented, whether it is likely to recur and the possible remedies that may be interposed to prevent its recurrence.

EASTBAY RATE PAYERS CONTINUE HEAVY TAX.
The rate payers of the Eastbay cities are paying something less than 8 per cent on the value of their property in addition to paying for the maintenance, upkeep, overhead and other expenses of the water company. Of this situation the Railroad Commission has decided that $4,000,000 represents the value of superior lands, on which the rate payers are paying a revenue of 8 per cent. In addition to this the residents of these communities are paying in taxes to maintain the water company and to pay for the special purpose of guarding the interests of the consumers of water. In state taxes they are contributing to the maintenance of an extensive establishment, the State Railroad Commission, also charged with protecting their interests.

The average consumer and taxpayer is paying the costs of an adequate protection against being trapped by a water famine, and is paying a matter of fact actually foreseen years ago? If this is the case, what measures were actually taken to provide against it?

RAILROAD BOARD TO PROBE CONDITIONS.
The Railroad Commission itself is to begin a probe into these conditions in the Eastbay communities next week. This serious foundation for will develop during the hearings to be held in Oakland by the commission sitting on Banc. The Railroad Commission, the water company, the attorneys-at-law who will take part in these proceedings are the servants of the consumers and the taxpayers, for it is the consumers and taxpayers who pay the bills which maintain these persons and institutions. Only by interesting themselves in what the commission and the water company are doing can the men and women who pay the bills hope to understand whether their wishes are being carried out.

STEPHEN'S APPOINTEE PEARIS HELD INELIGIBLE

Superior Judge of Bakersfield Named to Succeed Carnahan Declared Disqualified by the State Constitution
JUDGES ARE BARRED FROM OTHER OFFICES

Split Between Governor and Johnson Widened; Chester Rowell Takes Executive to Task for Recent Removal

That Superior Judge Howard A. Pearis of Bakersfield, appointed commissioner of corporations to succeed H. L. Carnahan, is ineligible is the claim set forth today by lawyers who hold that Article VI, Section 13, of the Constitution, bars him from accepting the appointment. This section adopted as an amendment on November 8, 1904, provides:
"The Justices of the Supreme Court and of the District Courts of Appeal and the Judges of the Superior Courts shall be ineligible to any other office of public employment than a judicial office or employment during the term for which they shall have been elected."
Judge Pearis is now serving on the superior bench of Kern county. He was appointed five years ago to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Paul Bennett. He was elected at the first election following his appointment and at the recent primaries had no opposition.
Both the spirit and letter of the law disqualify Judge Pearis, declare the lawyers.

GOVERNOR ON CARNAHAN WIDENS SPLIT OF LEADERS
The removal by Governor Stephens of Commissioner of Corporations H. L. Carnahan, a Johnson appointee, is causing more discussion than the ballot. It has widened the breach existing between Senator Johnson and Governor Stephens and sent glimmering all hopes of reconciliation between the former governor and his appointee.

And now comes Chester H. Rowell, close friend of Senator Johnson and erstwhile supporter of Governor Stephens, editorially criticizing the error ent the removal of Carnahan. In the Fresno Republican, in an editorial headed "A Disappointment," Rowell declares:
"Friends and supporters of Governor Stephens are disappointed in the removal of Carnahan. It is a painful disappointment on learning of the summary discharge, obviously for political reasons, of Corporation Commissioner H. L. Carnahan. The wrong is not even in depriving the public service of an exceptionally valuable official, since that loss would have come in a few weeks anyway. It is in having a standard of petty personal politics as the tenure of office in the State administration of California."
Rowell then pays a tribute to Carnahan in the administration of the "blue sky" law, declaring him to be one of the most successful and popular officials in California. He further declares that the removal is a clear endorsement of the fact that a public official must personally support Governor Stephens in his personal aspirations to office or lose his head. Rowell's concluding words are: "We are very, very sorry."

HENEY'S FRIENDS GAIN, BUT MAKE LITTLE GAINS
Democratic leaders appear to be "up in the air" as to the procedure in securing representation on the November ballot. Heney's friends are the most active, but appear to have made but little progress. It is not unlikely that the Democrats will fail to unite on an agreed case. Several actions before the Supreme Court are possible.

Eustace Cullinan, San Francisco attorney and one of the Ralph campaign managers, has just issued a statement in which he analyzes the situation as follows:
"The Democratic leaders who are disputing over the question of whether Ralph or Heney ought to go on the ballot as the Democratic nominee are losing sight of the fact that Ralph is not only the choice of the Democratic electors, but is also the choice of the people as expressed at the primary."
"Of the electors who voted at the

CHAUNY IS EVACUATED AS ENEMY RUNS NORTH

North of Oise, On Southern Flank of the Picard Battle Front, the French Line Is Steadily Pushing Forward

GERMANS RETREATING TOWARD ST. QUENTIN

General Berthelot's Army at Rheims, in Cooperation With Americans, Is Aiding Forces of Magnin, Humbert

PARIS, Sept. 5.—(5 p. m.)—Chauny has been evacuated by the Germans. (Chauny is on the Oise river south of the St. Quentin-La Fere sector, it is about five miles from the battlefield as it stood before the Germans began their first offensive in Picardy on March 21.) The American cavalry has crossed the Vesle river and is operating toward the Aisne.

On the Oise, on the southern flank of the Picard battle front, the French line is pushing forward hourly, according to advices from the field today. The advance is so steady that it is impossible to estimate the present location of the outmost troops.

On the Vesle front the Germans are now half way to the Aisne. Further progress over a wide front and the repulse of two violent counter-attacks were reported by the French war office today.

East of the Canal du Nord the French maintained their contact with the Germans, pushing forward progress was made in the direction of the Aisne river also.

The Canal de la Somme has been crossed by French troops. French forces have passed Hombleux, Esmerly, Hallon and Flavy Le Meudoux, carrying their lines to the north of Gulesard and to the border of Germany.

General Berthelot's army around Rheims, in co-operation with American divisions, is today helping General Humbert and General Devleux in their success on elsewhere on the Aisne-Vesle line. (The armies around Rheims have hitherto not been engaged in the present battle.)

The line of the Vesle has been entirely taken. Allied troops are reported already reaching the Aisne south of Vesle.

California Fruits Crowd N. Y. Docks

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Erie railroad docks, where all California fruits are sent, were never so crowded as now. Receivers of fruits conferred with railroad officials yesterday and under intimation that embargo might be necessary, receivers agreed to divert shipments to other markets until congestion is relieved. Over 300 cars remained in Jersey City yards when the market closed Saturday. Monday's holiday and no sales increased congestion. Erie promises to unload 150 to 180 cars daily here until accumulations are disposed of. Delay arrivals of carloads.

FLIGHT FROM LYS SECTOR PRECIPITATE

British and American Troops in Close Pursuit As Defeated foe, Abandoning Big Store, Retires from Posts on Belgian Line

PLOEGSTEERT TAKEN BY HAIG

LONDON, Sept. 5, 3:23 p. m.—American and British troops are still closely following the German withdrawal in the Lys salient, in Flanders, it was learned here this afternoon. The enemy has lost enormous material of every description.

LONDON, Sept. 5, 11:31 a. m.—Ploegsteert, on the Flanders front, has been captured by the British, the war office announced today.

In the past four days the British have captured 16,000 prisoners and more than 100 guns.

Hill 63, southwest of Messines, has been taken by the British. In the Ploegsteert district one hundred German prisoners and many machine guns were captured. The Germans attempted to hold up the British advance toward the Messines ridge, but all of their counter attacks were repulsed.

The fighting north of the Lys river on Wednesday was very bitter, the British concentrating strong pressure against the German positions in the center of the Franco-Belgian frontier.

The German counter-attacks in the Messines ridge sector centered about Wytschaete, which rests upon the contested strip of high ground.

The Germans were quickly hurled back when they tried to stem the British onrush.

Ploegsteert is only three miles north of Armentieres and is about eight miles south of Ypres. It is on the Warneton-Armentieres road.

South of Neuve Chapelle as far as Giverny (the British front line) the British have regained the old lines held by them prior to April 9.

The war office report follows:
"Sharp fighting took place yesterday north of the Lys river."
"During the morning our troops attacked and captured Hill 63, southwest of Messines, taking over 100 prisoners."

"In the afternoon we attacked and captured Ploegsteert along with another hundred prisoners."

"Many machine guns were captured."

"North of Hill 63 our troops were continuously engaged in the sector of Wytschaete, where the enemy attacked repeatedly, but without success."

"On the Lys river front our troops now hold the general line of Voormezele, Wulverghem, Ploegsteert, Nieupe, Laverghem and Giverny."

OLD LINES PAID AGAIN INTO BRITISH HANDS
"South of Neuve Chapelle, as far as Giverny, we have regained the old line held by us prior to April 9, and east of Giverny we have occupied portions of the old German positions."

"These are the positions held by the Germans before they began their offensive on the Flanders front in April."

"On the southern battlefield the enemy strongly attacked our new positions at Inch-en-Artels yesterday evening, but was repulsed after sharp fighting."

"We have improved our position south of Mouves and east of Hermites and have taken Neuville Bourjovial, between Leveven and twelve miles southwest of Cambrai."

"The enemy counter-attacks yesterday evening east of Manancourt, but was repulsed."

"Fighting has taken place also in the neighborhood of Peronne and our line has been improved slightly."

"During the past four days the British have captured over 16,000 prisoners and more than 100 guns."

GERMAN LINES ARE ADJUSTED BELOW SCARPE
WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 5, noon.—(By the Associated Press)—South of the River Scarpe a large portion of the German line is being readjusted.

Southeast of Mouves several thousand yards of the old Hindenburg front line have been cleaned up and now are in possession of the British.

BERLIN, Sept. 5, via London.—Between Ypres and La Bassée, in the Lys salient, the British yesterday pressed forward against the German line, the German war office announced today.

Between the Somme and the Oise rivers, the statement adds, the Germans continued their movement out of the region of Lys, rear guards which had been left behind to retard the French followed the Germans slowly.

PERSHING'S MEN CROSS RIVERS AND PURSUE FOE

Main Hun Forces Retreat Over Aisne; United States Lads and French Sweep Across Vesle and Harrass Enemy

FLANKING MOVEMENT SUCCESS FOR AMERICANS

Violent Explosions Indicate Kaiser's Forces Are Blowing Up Own Ammunition Dumps in Their Mad Flight

BULLETIN
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 5.—The main German forces have retreated across the Aisne. The American artillery supporting the pursuit is over the Vesle. Bridging material is being rushed forward to be used in crossing the Aisne and the Oise-Aisne canal beyond it, if the enemy withdrawal continues to the Chemin Des Dames.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 5.—Americans and French, who swept across the Vesle river on a wide front, are practically half way to the Aisne today at the furthestmost points of their advance.

As the enemy troops fall back toward the Chemin Des Dames positions they are being steadily followed up. Their guns, machine guns, and with pressure from the Americans and French gradually increasing.

The first crossing of the Vesle by patrols was followed last night by a crossing of the Vesle by the main body of allied fighters marched over the stream at a number of different places.

At last reports the Americans were beyond Vauxcelles, Blancy and Basleux.

FLANKING MOVEMENT WINS FOR AMERICANS
Bazouches and Fismette fell into American hands through a flanking movement. (Vauxcelles is nearly three miles north of the Vesle. Blancy is about two miles north of Fismes and Basleux is southeast of it, about a mile north of Vesle. At the point where the Americans made their progress the Aisne and Vesle rivers are nearly five miles apart.)

At Gulesard the allies came upon an emplacement of a great German gun.

(The cablegram referred to the gun as a "big Bertha," indicating that it was one of the 42-centimeter type.)

That the Germans have withdrawn all of their main forces north of the Vesle river, except of light rear guards, was established by the fact that the main force was actually seen by the Americans.

American patrols crossed the Vesle in force, swimming and fording the river. Even tree trunks were utilized by the War Department soldiers. French forces advanced with the Americans.

A heavy smoke screen that had been put out by the Germans to hide the movement of their troops hung over the river, but was quickly dispersed.

Some machine gun nests were encountered, but they were quickly wiped out.

PERSHING'S FORCE IN PURSUE OF FOE
As the American and French troops went forward the aviators became active, aiding the movements of the infantry.

WASHINGTON, September 5.—American troops in close pursuit of the Germans retreating north of the Vesle river, have captured Bazouches, Perles, Fismette and Basleux, taking prisoners and machine guns. General Pershing reported in his communiqué, received last night by the War Department.

GERMANS BLOW UP THEIR AMMUNITION.
The American forces, General Pershing said, have reached the general line Vauxcelles-Blancy-Lezard-Hameau. American aviators also have successfully bombed the railroad yards at Longuenay, Domary-Darocourt and Conflans.

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES NORTH OF THE VESLE RIVER, Sept. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Violent explosions were heard along the line this morning. Observers reported that they believed the Germans were blowing up their ammunition dumps.

An aviator reported a terrific explosion at 9 o'clock at Villers-Ech-Vesle, on the south bank of the Vesle river, directly north of Fismes. Other explosions took place in the same region during the morning.

Pasadena Man Is Given War Place

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—H. M. Robinson of Pasadena, who has been prominent in war work, has been named to the position of director of exports for the United States shipping board, according to word received here today. Robinson is an officer of the Union Oil Company, Southern California Edison Company and two Los Angeles banks and treasurer of the Pacific Lumber Company.

Main German Army Is in Retreat Across Aisne

BOCHE REBEL IN BATTLE ON SOMME LINE

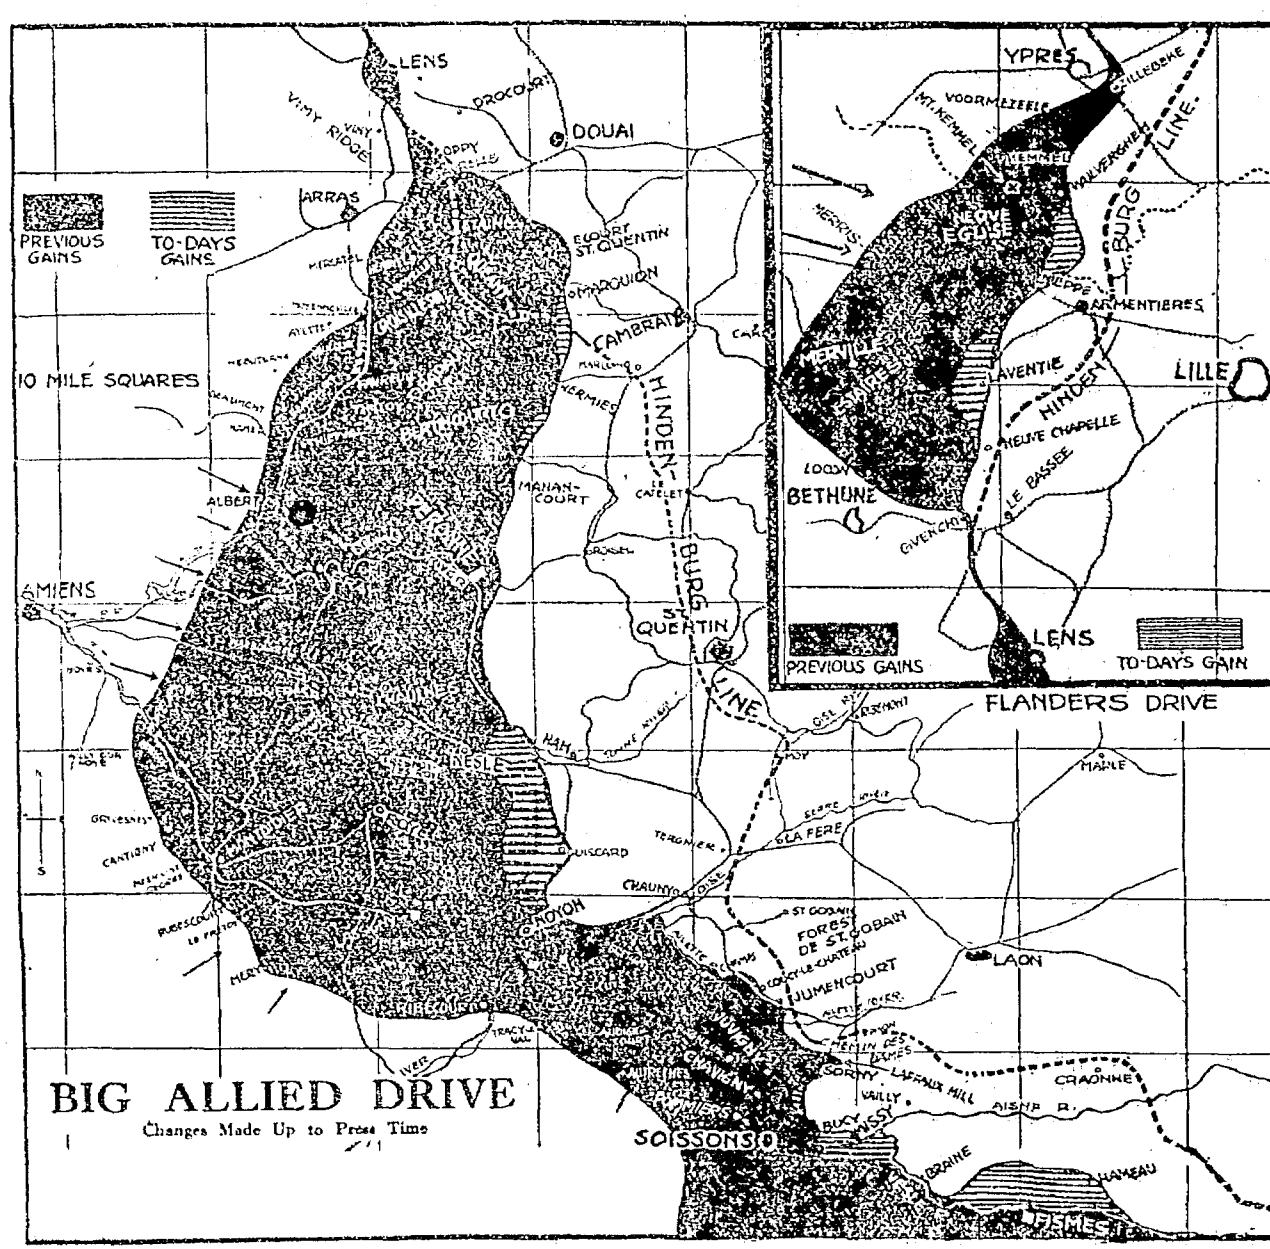

By LOWELL MELLETT, United Press Staff Correspondent. WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 5.—An unmistakable atmosphere of victory pervades the Somme battle front. It wasn't necessary today to hear the triumphant band music along the roads to catch the spirit animating the army. The exultant spirit of the bagpipes seemed to epitomize all the unexpressed feelings of the men. Prisoners taken at Mont St. Quentin said one battalion refused to attack there when ordered to, and that the officers were unable to compel them to. One company of the 18th infantry reserve had one officer and 52 men last week, and now it has only sixteen men, prisoners declared.

Another company which last week had one officer and fifty-eight men, has now been reduced to four men. Letters taken from prisoners dated the latter part of August, told of troops on one train refusing to go to the front, looting and destroying the railway station and refreshment rooms.

The landrum was called out and after a day's delay the rebellious troops returned to their train. Officers were unable to control them.

A private of the 100th grenadier regiment, 23rd division, in a letter to his wife, said:

"Things are beyond description. If it gets too hot I will let myself be taken prisoner. Otherwise I may never get out of this mess. My mind is made up. Almost all the others are chucking it. A good many are deserting. I don't blame them."

FOE AIRMEN OUTDONE BY AMERICANS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN LORRAINE, Sept. 5. (By Associated Press)—American bombing machines in their attack on Conflans and Tonguoyon yesterday were successful. Forty-four bombs and seven direct hits were observed at the east end of the railroad yard, two on a round house and a repair shop and two on other buildings. At Baroncourt four direct hits were observed.

In the Conflans raid more than a thousand kilograms of bombs were dropped on the junction of the Conflans-Metz railway. The bridge of the former road was destroyed. All our machines returned safely. Enemy bombers were active last night in the villages far behind the American lines.

American aviators in a battle with German airmen near Pont-a-Mousson today routed the enemy. One enemy machine is believed to have been driven down.

Ten German aeroplanes attacked a group of American pursuit planes this morning and after a brief fight one of them was brought down by Lieutenant Stroos. An American machine went down behind the German lines apparently under control. American airmen shot down an observation balloon in the Woevo this morning. Another was forced down yesterday.

Cpance to Win War in Year French Official Advises Calm

By WEBB MILLER, United Press Staff Correspondent. PARIS, Sept. 5.—Advising the American people against over-exuberance regarding the possibility of an early termination of the war, a high military official here, the importance of whose position forbids the mention of his name, gave an encouraging statement to Adam Bred, publisher of the Hastings, Neb., Tribune.

"It is certainly good to know that the American people are very much elated over the work the American army has done over here," he said. "But I would advise that they do not let their spirits rise too high, for in that event they would be carried away with themselves and expect too much in a short time."

"We are going to win the war within one year, if possible. If not, we will win in the next year. Of course, everything looks most hopeful—in truth, the outlook for us bringing the war to an end within a year could not be better under the circumstances, but, as I said before, the people should not let their spirits rise too high. They should be prepared to back the war to victory regardless of the time it takes to win it."

HUN BURGLARS BLEED BRAVE LITTLE BELGIUM

PARIS, Sept. 5.—Germany has exacted war contributions from Belgium during the first four years of the war amounting to a total of $466,000,000. This is in addition to the vast amount of machinery, materials and men taken from Belgium to sustain Germany.

In this fifth year of the war it is interesting to review the "financial activities" of the Germans in Belgium since that fateful day in August 1914, when the German hordes entered Brussels.

ZEROLENE

The Standard Oil for Motor Cars

Correct Lubrication for the Air-Cooled Type Engine

Proper cooling and correct lubrication are two things vital to the life of any automobile engine. Engines are either water-cooled or air-cooled. Our illustration is of the air-cooled type.

Engines of this type, like all internal combustion engines, require an oil that maintains its full lubricating qualities at cylinder heat, burns clean in the combustion chambers and goes out with exhaust. ZEROLENE fills these requirements perfectly, because it is correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude.

ZEROLENE is made in several consistencies to meet with scientific exactness the lubrication needs of all types of automobile engines. Get our "Correct Lubrication Chart" covering your car. At dealers everywhere and Standard Oil Service Stations.

More ZEROLENE is used for automobiles on the Pacific Coast than all other oils combined.

Leading motor car distributors praise ZEROLENE, correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude, because it maintains its lubricating body at cylinder heat and gives perfect lubrication with less wear and less carbon deposit.

ZEROLENE forms and keeps a perfect lubricating film around the pistons and cylinder walls. It leaves less carbon because, being made from asphalt-base crude, it burns clean and goes out with exhaust.

ZEROLENE is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines. It is the correct oil for your automobile. Get our lubrication chart showing the correct consistency for your car.

DYNASTY OF KAISER HELD IN DANGER

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 4.—German Chancellor Von Hertling, speaking at the meeting of the constitution committee of the Prussian upper house, declared the kaiser's dynasty was at stake, according to despatches here today. Hertling urged franchise reforms.

"The kaiser's dynasty is at stake, and it is therefore necessary to carry out to fulfillment the royal pledge regarding the franchise proposal," said Hertling.

"However, it cannot be safeguarded to prevent our political life being made too radical."

Telegraphing the municipality of Dresden, the kaiser said, according to advices received here today:

"The German people understand our difficulty in the present decisive battle against an enemy filled with hatred, jealousy and a destructive and they have unanimously decided to devote all their strength to defend their sacred soil and Kultur."

Directors Named by Mission Board

The forty-fifth annual meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions for the Pacific closed last night after a two-day session, with a stirring program at the Plymouth Congregational church.

The board of directors for the coming year are: Mrs. Ernest A. Evans, re-elected president; Miss Hionette F. Brewer, Mrs. W. W. Ferrier, Mrs. Walter Hope, Mrs. H. H. Kelsey, Mrs. W. Y. Krick, Mrs. W. F. Droll, Mrs. James H. Laah, Mrs. J. E. McLean, Mrs. H. M. Tenney, Mrs. Albert Hart, Mrs. E. R. Wagner and Mrs. F. P. Barbour.

The new board is in session today in San Francisco, completing plans of work for the year.

Falls On Street, Fractures Skull

Frank Williams, age 50, after a session with John Barleycorn, sustained a fall at Seventh and Washington last night, as a result of which he is at the Receiving hospital with a possible fracture of the skull. He resides at 232 Seventh street.

Ay, My Hearties! They're Tinkering With the Compass

"Avast! Ahoy!" "Belay me fr a howling catfish!"

These are the sentiments of the old-time sea-faring men along the Oakland waterfront, together with other sentiments which, if more profane, are even more vigorous.

For news has come that they're going to change the compass. Experts of Uncle Sam's hydrographic office have decided that greater accuracy, speed of operation and simplicity in navigation would result from a compass with the "points" on even degrees instead of fractions, as at present. It would mean five points to a quadrant instead of four; one for every three degrees, and would mean almost a revolution in the methods of the older navigators.

The hydrographic office has been ordered to notify all mariners of the possible change, which, however, will not take place until after the war. Every mariner is to be told in advance and his opinion learned. Lieutenant John MacMillan discussed the change last night at the San Francisco Navigation School, saying that in the opinion of the hydrographic office the new system will vastly facilitate a sailor's work.

Further details are on their way from Washington.

CHICAGO BOMB GLEW MAY BE REACHED HERE

An investigation was launched today which will determine whether the bomb which yesterday tore a hole in the Federal building in Chicago and killed four persons was one of those which were manufactured in the plants which were raided during the late July on a river ark in the Stockton canal and in the heart of the business district at Sacramento.

Local authorities and labor leaders have set to work on the problem. It was asserted at the time of the raids on the bomb-making plants that great numbers of the deadly missiles had been shipped under cover throughout the country. If the Chicago bomb had been connected up with the Stockton or Sacramento raids it will directly connect the insurgent movement here with the Middle West.

Among the quantity of stuff seized in July were five bombs, quantities of dynamite, T. N. T. and nitro-glycerine. An iron cylinder 18 inches long, capped at both ends and filled with half sticks of 7 per cent gelatin which was taken differed little from the iron cylinder wrapped in wire, which, according to telegraphic reports, exploded at the time of the destruction. Federal authorities admit that it is within the range of possibility that the bombs might have been shipped from California lacking this covering.

SOME SENT EAST. Definite information was obtained that certain bombs manufactured in California had been sent to Kansas and Nebraska and that the bombs were to be used in the destruction of the California grain fields.

The assistance of all the intelligence bureaus of the government and the neutrality squad and the Federal departments has been called into action. It is definitely known that the authorities are in possession of information which will result in wholesale arrests of those who have been under surveillance for the past two weeks in connection with the I. W. W. movement in California. Assistant U. S. Attorney P. H. Johnston and Deputy Marshal Thomas Mulhall have been handling the government investigation.

LABOR DAY PLOT. CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—The Federal building bomb that killed four persons and injured a score of others was to have been exploded during the great Labor Day parade, with the expectation that it would wipe out hundreds of lives.

This opinion was made public here by one of the Federal authorities to whom the frustration of the planned wholesale slaughter is credited. Foreknowledge of the plot had caused the Federal authorities to send hundreds of operatives among the marchers and to station them, together with 3500 Federal soldiers from Fort Sheridan, around the Federal building.

Federal authorities are silent on information which they are uncovering.

The man who placed the bomb which yesterday killed four persons, injured a score of others and tore a hole in the Federal building here, is today reported by the "Arrest." Officials investigating the crime, however, refuse to confirm the reports circulating at the wrecked government building.

All night long a strong guard formed of Jackies from the Great Lakes naval training station and a detachment rushed from Fort Grant at Stockton to the Federal building, while the dragnet was spread for I. W. W. suspects in connection with the explosion. More than 100 are under arrest today.

The list of dead is as follows:

WHEELER, WILLIAM H., a mail clerk.

LADD, J. B., a sailor from the Great Lakes Training Station, whose home was in Salinas, Kan.

KOLKOW, E. R., a postal clerk.

MICHELLE, MISS HELEN, Chicago.

The blast was attributed to the I. W. W. by Philip J. Barry, acting chief of the local Federal investigation bureau.

I. W. W. RAIDED; WOMAN HELD. With the city police were rushing the wounded to hospital, Federal agents hurried from the building and made two raids on I. W. W. headquarters. Nine men were bagged at these places and a woman was grabbed in a nearby office building. Her identity is being kept secret.

The explosion wrecked the entrance of the building and shattered every window in the first three floors, but two buildings across the street.

The courtroom of Judge Keneshaw M. Landis, where ninety-five I. W. W. leaders were given prison sentences a few days ago, is on the sixth floor of the Federal building.

HAYWOOD IN BUILDING. William D. (Big Bill) Haywood, "uncrowned king" of the I. W. W., was in the building at the time of the explosion. With his lawyer he was planning to seek a writ of error to stay the execution of the twenty-year prison sentence given him.

He deplored the outrage and admitted he thought the I. W. W. would be blamed, but denied emphatically that any member of the organization had committed the act.

Haywood plainly felt the building tremble with the detonation of the bomb and heard the glass crash in the dome of the structure and the cries of the injured. He appeared calm and did not leave the deputy marshal's office.

Parole Is Asked by Spy Suspect

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Franz Schulenberg, who has been interned as a close associate of the mysterious "Madame X," master German spy on the Pacific coast, who was arrested nearly a year ago, appeared before Charles H. Holliday, assistant to the attorney general for war work, in application for a parole on probation from internment. Schulenberg's application will be submitted to Attorney General Gregory for consideration.

Schiller Would Fight Germans Alien Enemies May Be Citizens

Contrary to popular understanding, alien enemies who made declaration of becoming citizens of the United States prior to the American declaration of war, can become naturalized under the special act of Congress of May 9, 1918. The law has been so interpreted by United States Naturalization Examiner J. H. Richardson and by Gene Phelps, naturalization deputy in the office of the County Clerk.

Under the provisions of the act fourteen enemy aliens have made application for naturalization in Alameda county, and a number in San Francisco. Most prominent of those applying in this section is Frederick G. Schiller, the San Francisco composer and former conductor of the Philharmonic orchestra, which, under the patronage of the city, gave a series of popular concerts at the Exposition Auditorium. Schiller was dismissed as conductor when the agitation was begun against municipal employment of enemy aliens.

WILLING TO FIGHT. Recently he applied to the naturalization bureau to ascertain his status and to learn that he was eligible to citizenship, and he immediately instituted the necessary proceedings, which are now pending. Schiller declares that he desires to become a citizen and to assume the full responsibilities of citizenship, which includes being drafted into fighting against his former countrymen. Schiller made his declaration of intention in 1914.

The law as interpreted, makes eligible for citizenship those alien enemies who made declaration of intention at least two years prior to the American entrance into the war, and who were willing to make final application, after which the matter is reported to the whether they are getting their money's worth.

Eastbay Water Problem Vital Tribune Will Show All Facts

Explanatory to such an understanding it is necessary to understand what the water company is, how it is constituted, what it does.

What is the East Bay Water Company? When George H. Wilhelm, chief engineer and general manager of the company both before and since the reorganization of the old Peoples Water Company was on the stand in the rate investigation by the State Railroad Commission, he was asked to describe the water company. Out of the mass of detail of facts about Lake Chabot and the Alameda wells, about reservoirs and pumping stations, mains and services, he drew one picture that might help to visualize the physical composite which constitutes this water company.

He described the structural properties of the company as "spread fanwise from Oakland back into the hills, its main arteries leading down from the reservoirs to the center of population, and radiating outward to San Leandro and Alameda on one direction, and northward to Richmond, San Pablo and Pinole.

A figure that will perhaps image the vital character of the water company is to consider these East-bay communities as a living organism, having the functions of a living organism, growing like living matter, absorbing nourishment, digesting it, and putting it forth again for new growth and energy and work. In this great organism, spread like some monster across the landscape, water and the water system must be figured as roughly corresponding to the blood and the circulating system. Its pumps and reservoirs, like a great heart, send the fluid coursing through huge arteries, then into smaller, and so down to the little pipes that lead into the homes where this blood of the community feeds the tissues.

The growth and progress of the modern community are thus absolutely dependent upon the proper functioning of this circulatory system. How it has grown with the community, to what extent it has fallen behind and is in danger of curtailing the proper growth and progress of the community, will be set forth in succeeding articles, giving the figures and facts, the story of how the company has been built up by the assembly of some of the other water companies under one system, and of how that system has been developed or has failed to develop to meet the needs of the communities it is paid to serve.

NEW METHOD OF SHOWING AUTOS

Tractors, trailers, trucks, accessories of all varieties, together with a number of newest model automobiles, will be the features of the automobile exhibit of the Pacific Coast Land and Industrial Exposition now being assembled.

The display—the original design of Harry Perkins, assistant manager of the exposition, will be unusual as it will depart from the level of the exhibition grounds to show the automobiles as they are applied to automobiles will be given under the direction of the representatives from the various cities throughout the country.

There will be besides one of the first and greatest assemblies of safety devices ever given anywhere in the United States. It is estimated that at the Traffic Officers' convention there will be thousands of eastern members of the organization. The Pacific Coast Traffic Officers' convention will convene September 17 to 22 and will furnish further opportunity for exhibiting safety devices, pictures and lectures on traffic evils and their correction; demonstrations of correct and incorrect ways to drive; addresses by leading traffic experts of America and exhibits of the latest and roughest riding on motorcycles.

Many entries of the best riders in the country already have been filed for this event.

Not Guilty; Ruling Over Shin Kicking

China dishes were smashed and shins were barked during a melee between three women in a notion store at 2673 San Pablo avenue, resulting in charges of battery and disturbing the peace being preferred by Margaret Warren against Bredie Samuels, proprietress of the shop.

When the plaintiff appeared in the case this morning she bared an ankle as evidence of her encounter with the shop woman and her mother, whom she alleged set upon her following an argument over the return of a top magic lantern on which she wanted her money back. Judge Smith found the defendant not guilty and dismissed the case.

Burbank Arrives to Install Exhibit

Luther Burbank, California plant wizard, and Mrs. Burbank arrived today from Santa Rosa on a dare registered at the Hotel Oakland. They are here to supervise the installation of the Burbank exhibit at the land show.

Stanley Herbert, capitalist of Stockton, is also a guest at the Oakland. General espionage upon pro-German activities of any nature.

Text of the Section.

"No alien enemy who is a native citizen, subject or denizen of any country state or sovereignty with which the United States is at war shall be admitted to become a citizen, unless he made a declaration of intention not less than two nor more than seven years prior to the existence of the state of war, or was at that time entitled to become a citizen, notwithstanding he shall be an alien enemy."

The section thereafter goes on to prescribe the manner of making the application. The law provides that the President may, at his discretion, upon investigation and report by the Department of Justice, except any alien enemy from the act.

The sum of $100,000 was appropriated under the act for the carrying out of its provisions, paying the expenses of investigations and the like. The section repeals the governing section of the previously revised naturalization act.

DR. PEIXOTTO TO RESCUE 100,000 BABIES IN YEAR

BERKELEY, Sept. 5.—Called back to Washington to direct the work of saving 100,000 American babies during the coming year, Dr.

Jessica Peixotto, professor of social economics at the University of Cal-national capital after three months spent in war-time instruction on the campus.

Dr. Peixotto will go to Washington to resume her position as executive chairman of the department of child welfare of the National Coun-

1918 CLASS AT CAMP KEARNY

CAMP KEARNY, SAN DIEGO,

Sept. 5.—Draft men from San Mateo, San Jose and Barstow have arrived here for the 1918 class.

September quotas of more than 5000 men expected here for training soon. There were about 350 men in all. All the Barstow contingent men who were registered June 5 last. "Of the 1918 class," their leader designated them with a touch of pride.

This contingent was "just enough for a test of the machinery," ac-ording to Captain Irwin W. Minger, camp personnel officer, in charge of the induction process. The men were rough, the receiving office at an average rate of one a minute for each team of clerks and the best time made for any sustained period was forty-five seconds per man. It is hoped to reduce this to thirty seconds per man.

As the men walked by the counters of the receiving office, one clerk took their papers as filled out by their local draft boards, another checked their names to see that each man had his own papers, a third started their service records, a fourth typed their names and numbers on a roster and a fifth man attached a record tag for each man. A sixth man fastened this around the recruit's neck. Several others kept the long line of recruits moving in order.

"TOLD TO KEEP TAGS,"

As the sixth man tied the tags on the recruits he recited in a monotonous sing-song, "With this tag you are told to keep it all the time. You will be arrested if you are found without it."

As usual, the draft brought in all sorts and conditions of men. Within the small limits of the Barstow contingent, twelve men, there were a stockman and a member of the "rising young business man" type, a clerk, a laborer and several other distinct types. Some of the draft men brought quantities of baggage, much of which they must send home

as soon as they receive uniforms; others brought little. One recruit brought a package of marshmallows as his sole baggage. This man had neither vest nor coat, but a fountain pen was clasped in his shirt pocket, mute evidence of a pledge to "write to mother every day."

The contingent were the first to come here wearing the brassard given by draft boards to selectees as a temporary uniform. This is shield-shaped and carries the word, "California—U. S. Soldier" on its face.

HOW TO SEND LETTERS.

Request was issued today by postoffice officials here that all letters for recruits be addressed to

"Recruit So-and-So," or be marked plainly "Recruit Receiving Camp."

This will save delay in delivery, they declared.

Of 150 second lieutenants just reporting at camp, all of them graduates of the officers' training school at Fort Benning, Ga., eight were assigned to the recruit camp to aid

NAVY YARD GAY FOR DESTROYER

VALLEJO, Sept. 5.—Close to 6000

Mara Island employees participated in the big celebration here last night in honor of the completion of the destroyer Ward. A monster parade was one of the features of the festive and thirty floats were in the line of march.

Twenty-five floats were represented in the parade of 3,000 marchers, the shoppers being the strongest, with 1700 men in line. When they came into view they were met with a great ovation.

Preceding them was a large float with a miniature destroyer of the Ward type.

Yeomanettes marching with a swing of seasoned veterans gave the parade an individual touch. There are 150 employed at Mara Island. The

FAILURE OF ENEMY DUE TO ALLY SPEED

ALL FRANCE IS GRATEFUL FOR AID: JOFFRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Marshal Joffre, president of the Fatherless Children of France, in a cablegram to the New York headquarters of the organization, expressed "the gratitude of the whole of France for the generosity with which America came so spontaneously to the rescue of our widows and orphans."

Referring to new plans of assistance which the organization is making, Marshal Joffre said: "I endorse it with my whole heart. It will indeed be a wonderful comfort and a splendid tonic to our soldiers to know that, thanks to you, should they fall gloriously on the battlefield, their wives and children will be cared for. This assurance will give them strength to carry on to the final victory."

SEVERAL FINED.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Mmo Stella Seaton, self-styled astrologer, was fined $200 by Police Judge Timothy Fitzpatrick yesterday, after conviction on two charges of telling fortunes for money.

TOMORROW'S DAY! CIRCUS COMING

The circus—Barnum & Bailey's—comes to Oakland tomorrow.

"Well! The time is 'most upon us. Tomorrow morning! And those circus folks get up early, too. They'll be here let's say about 10 o'clock, well, it's hard to say. They'll be here pretty early though. But they'll not come any too early for the kiddies whose hearts have been going pit-a-pat ever since the first flaming posters were displayed, and who will be on hand at the railroad yards before daybreak to welcome the first of the four long trains bearing the circus show things."

Today the circus is showing in Sacramento and after tonight's performance there will be a rattling and a clattering and a bumping and a booming and a banging and—

"Hey, fellows! Here she is! Here's the circus train!" one in the vanguard of Oakland lads-in-waiting will shout, and the people already on hand will begin to surge around the circus cars and red wagons. Anybody who has ever been around the circus grounds after the rains have arrived, knows what will happen there until 10 o'clock the hour for starting the parade, arrives. There's going to be a parade, all right, and there will be two performances at 2 and 8 p. m.

The circus people promise a real circus—the circus of the meadow lot, with a wilderness of red wagons, an array of elephants and camels in daisy skirts riding at breakneck speed, while the ringmaster cracks his whip and tumbles fly through the air. And they promise a real parade with all the trimmings for tomorrow morning. About everything of any standing in the natural history line will be seen.

Starting the circus ball a-rolling under the "big top" will be a pageant descriptive of the story of "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," following which will come the rapid fire program of acrobatic acts and features. The elephants have a whole host of new tricks, including an elephant brass band. Lupeta Pera, who in her early childhood, astonished the natives of Mexico City with her love for the top, most branches of the tallest trees, will thrill with her mid-air exploits.

More than 50 clowns will be turned loose.

Tickets may be bought all day tomorrow at Sherman-Clay Piano Company at the same prices charged at the show grounds.

Hun Troops Rebel; Sing "Marseillaise"

CHRISTIANIA (Norway), Sept. 5.—(Havas).—German troops in Estonia are showing signs of subordination, according to advices received here from Russia. Several hundred soldiers have hoisted the Red flag, singing the Marseillaise. Their officers were powerless to keep order.

At Reval 400 German soldiers and sailors took part in similar demonstrations, according to the reports.

William Farnum Scores in "Riders of the Purple Sage"

WILLIAM FARNUM

Screen Star's Portrayal of Lassister, the Avenger, Makes Hit at American

The question as to which film play of the past or present is most deserving of being designated as "The great American photo-drama" was definitely decided in the mind of every person who witnessed the screen presentation of Zane Grey's powerful and internationally famous story, "Riders of the Purple Sage," at the American Theatre yesterday.

About the afternoon and evening performance the American was packed to capacity. William Farnum's portrayal of the character of Lassister, the avenger—the hard riding, straight shooting, fearless hero of Zane Grey's thrilling tale, is the crowning success and artistic triumph of his successful career as a stage and screen star.

Lassister, the hardened plainsman, regarded the carrying of a gun as a sort of moral law—as the difference between a man and something not a man. He was exceedingly cautious, his guarded advance advertising his unwillingness to take chances with strangers. He packed two blackbutted shooting irons—low down, hard to see, black against black chaps—and he was slung around to the fore by his singular habit of standing, slightly crouched, his arms bent and stiff.

Into the trackless domain of the purple sage—the broad plains and the burning deserts and the cool shadows of the mighty mountains—rides this man alone in search of his kidnapped sister. He does not find her, but his quest brings him many a thrilling adventure, a reputation as the surest shot and most deadly enemy of the whole wide west and a love that laughs at danger.

In addition to this wonderful film production, Marguerite Disher is seen in a refreshing comedy-drama, "Money Isn't Everything," and an interesting and amusing news weekly is shown.

As a special musical feature, John Wharry Lewis and his orchestra played, as an overture, Liszt's Second Rhapsody with grand piano cadenza by Raymond D. Valera.

This entire program will be repeated today, tomorrow and Saturday.

TURKISH CAPITAL IS BOMBARDED

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Constantinople was bombed twice in the latter part of August, the admiralty has announced. The arsenal, the airport at Gallipoli, the seaplane base at Gallipoli and Chanak were attacked.

The raids, which were carried out by the royal air force, occurred on August 25, 26, 27 and 28.

On August 26 and September 1 the royal air force co-operated with the navy, carried out successful bombing raids on Ostend and Zeebrugge, on the Belgian coast. Thirteen tons of bombs were dropped and large fires were started, the statement announced.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN LORRAINE, Tuesday, Sept. 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—American aviators successfully bombed Longjumeau twice today.

Two airplanes flew over the German lines last night and dropped a few bombs.

British fliers yesterday settled scores with the German aviators. They brought down 26 hostile machines, losing only ten of their own. On the previous day the British aerial losses had been near double those suffered by the foe. Forty-two tons of bombs were dropped by the British yesterday on various German targets.

During the period of the war no manufacturer will be allowed to supply street or road building materials until the project has been approved by the United States Highway Council. Each application for a permit for such construction work must be passed upon by the State highway department before it goes to the council.

In case of repair work," said C. G. Sheffield, director of the bureau of domestic consumption, United States Oil division, in a letter to Folsom, "separate applications for individual streets are not necessary. Repairs in one city can generally be included in one application. Of course this would only constitute repairs to improved hard surface pavements. If oil or road binders were desired to improve dirt roads, separate application would have to be made."

Quick action on projects necessary to the war will be made possible by the council's action, the United States Highway Council said in its statement.

"The Council is hopeful," the announcement stated, "that the selective consideration of new highway and street construction by the township, county and municipal officials and in turn by the state highway departments will so materially eliminate the less essential projects as to make it possible for the council to render active aid on the project it approves. The aid contemplated will be in the form of such action by the other government agencies involved as will remove obstacles to the speedy completion of the projects."

C. H. Robinson Gets Officer's Commission
T. M. Robinson, assistant in the office of Assessor Joseph M. Kelley, who has served in the department since 1880, received word today that his son, Constant H. Robinson, age 27, has been commissioned as a second lieutenant in the 21st battery, field artillery, 1st division, 1st corps, U. S. Army.

After the declaration of war Robinson's three sons immediately volunteered. T. M. Robinson Jr., 25, is now in France with the 38th ambulance corps, and Weston S. Robinson, 24, is in the 1st training center, where he is preparing for a commission. He received a furlough recently and is leaving today for his home.

EDITORIAL
This is wonderful time to write letters. Never in history has personal correspondence been of such vital consequence in world's affairs.

Every day we read of the death of boys whose parents live among us. How many of us take the trouble to write to the sorrowing parents of these departed Alameda County heroes, advising our bit to help lighten the load of those they've left behind?

How many of us are corresponding regularly with the families of those we know whose boys are over there? Who is it that takes the trouble to get the address of the parents of the boys we entertain at Sunday dinner and write to them telling them of the day spent with their boy?

How many of us correspond with the workmen fighting over there for the rest of us? Remember this: It isn't enough to keep up a correspondence with the men in uniform. We ought to write letters, letters and still more letters to the sorrowing ones at home as well.

Every Alameda County mother that loses a boy should receive hundreds of letters from her fellow townsmen, no matter where we know her or not.

If you can't find them, work and let letters be a part of this work.

What is a Branch House?

The Branch House is the place in the packing organization where what the packing plant does for you is put where you can use it.

Both are the natural result of growth and development in the living thing they belong to.

Swift & Company Branch houses are located in distributing centers all over the country. They are fitted out with refrigerating equipment to keep meat cool, sweet and fresh.

Each one is in personal charge of a man who believes in what Swift & Company is doing for people and wants to help do it.

They are directed by men who have spent years learning how to get better meat cheaper to the places where it is needed.

Meat is shipped to the branch houses direct from the packing plants in Swift & Company's refrigerator cars, in such quantities that it can be disposed of while fresh and sweet.

Your meat dealer comes here to buy your meat for you—unless someone else can treat him better than we can.

So you need the branch house in order to live well; and the branch house and the packing plant need each other, in order to be useful to you.

WHAT IMPENDS?

Developments of the last few days in the Ally offensive in France have tended to raise the hope that a blow of major importance will be shortly dealt the enemy. New evidence of the superiority of the British, French and American forces is forthcoming and there are signs that Field Marshal Foch may be near the culminating point in his plan of strategy.

Up to the end of August the German commanders had undeniably conducted an admirable retreat. They had gotten out of the very dangerous Marne pocket with what may reasonably be set down as the minimum of losses, considering all phases of the situation. They had been badly pinched in the Montdidier salient, and at Albert, Baupainne and Peronne. General Mangin had punished them surely and severely between the Oise and the Aisne. But excepting when, in the first few days of the Picardy offensive, the British had been able to employ their cavalry along the Ancre river, the foe's retirement had been somewhat orderly. He had been able to retreat from one position to another without undue losses, considering the number of men and the quantity of material to be moved.

In the fighting between Etain and Queant of the last three days, however, the British have overrun the famed Hindenburg fortified line with comparative ease. They have made a breach of over eight miles and are still advancing steadily. Evidently the enemy's calculations have miscarried and Ludendorff can no longer boast even before the gullible German people that the operations are completely under his control.

The Queant-Drocourt switch, named the Wotan line by von Hindenburg in the days of his poetic glorification, was not yielded willingly. The British advance here imperils Cambrai and Douai, both of which cities are vital to the retention of the whole German front from Verdun to Ypres. They are already under the range of Ally artillery and, if they are not ultimately captured, will be made useless as transportation centers. This will destroy the mobility of the whole German defense system along the Hindenburg line and necessitate a readjustment.

Thus it appears that Foch is able to do within reason what he chooses with the German lines. He seems to have in effective measure the all-important reserves which the German high command thought had been used up. Breaking the Drocourt-Queant line was a question of sufficient strength to overcome the resistance and Foch had the strength. This assumption correct, and the Allies have complete control of the situation, which means they will be able to carry their strategic plans to a successful conclusion.

What these plans involve is known only to the Ally general staff, but it is safe to conclude that they do not stop at an objective which will leave the German defense system in France intact.

AN EXPANDING PROGRAM.

Announcement at Washington yesterday of the arrival at Vladivostok of Major General William S. Graves, commander of the American expeditionary force in Siberia, which are now stated to comprise more than 1,000 soldiers, is pleasant news to those who have hoped that the course adopted by the Allies in Siberia would deal with the practical military aspects of the whole Russo-German situation and not merely be designed to give form to the altruistic ideals of statesmen.

Other news from the Siberian war zone indicates that the Allies are operating in considerable force. Bolshevik-Teutonic organizations have been defeated and forced to retreat. Japanese troops have appeared on the Ussuri river and elsewhere in Transbaikalia several hundred miles from Vladivostok and Harbin.

These events coincide encouragingly with the announcement that the United States has recognized the Czech-Slovaks as a de facto government. It is in Asiatic Russia, and there alone, that the Czech-Slovaks may be said to have developed from a literary campaign into a human force. It is in this corner of the earth that practical assistance may be rendered by the Allies. There at least is a possibility for transforming an epic adventure into a real democratic force capable of turning the Russian situation from a German menace to an Ally asset.

The United States and the other Ally nations must realize that the original program to send a few troops to the port of Vladivostok to act as a police guard for military stores must be abandoned. Operations in Siberia and at Murmansk and Archangel signify that England, France and Japan have frankly taken the broader and more practical view. It would be encouraging to read the official announcement that the United States government has likewise changed its first plan and is to help to transform Russia into an active battle front.

INDUSTRIAL HOUSING.

The federal government has given two examples on the Pacific coast of the method of handling the problem of housing facilities for industrial workers. One is at the Mare Island navy yard on San Francisco Bay and the other at the Puget Sound navy yard at Bremerton, Washington. These housing projects are being carried out by the Bureau of Industrial Housing and Transportation of the Department of Labor.

At the Mare Island navy yard it is planned to build in the city of Vallejo on the mainland side of Carquinez straits permanent dormitories to accommodate one thousand men, thirty small apartment houses of four apartments each and about a hundred frame houses a story and a half in height containing four, five and six rooms each. The apartment houses and cottages are to be of a style in local favor. There will also be stores, a school house and recreation building.

The development at Bremerton, Washington, includes the erection of a hotel of 350 rooms, three apartment houses of fifteen apartments each and some 250 houses of the bungalow type to be of four, five and six rooms each. These buildings will conform to the type of building popular on Puget Sound.

Contracts for the Mare Island project have already been let and work has started. The government has been compelled to build sewers and streets and to provide a water supply. The conditions which caused the government to take a hand at Mare Island was the inadequate housing facilities provided in the vicinity of the navy yard and the alleged extortionate rentals charged by owners of houses. At Bremerton the navy yard is an isolated community, it requiring workmen living in Seattle two hours to make the journey to their work.

In both instances the government has recognized the importance of having housing facilities close to the work. This adds to the efficiency of the working organization and to the contentedness of employees. The principle is of universal application and calls for adequate housing facilities in the Eastbay district for all the industrial workers employed on this side of the bay.

CONTROL OF WAR CHARITIES.

Chairman C. C. Moore of the State Council of Defense has taken the right course in assuming jurisdiction over all solicitations of war charity funds in California. If he sees to it that his order is not violated the mind of the benevolent public will be much relieved. And the public will be genuinely gratified to learn that 100 percent of the funds collected for an authorized charity must be applied to the purpose designated in the appeal.

Control and regulation of the multitude of so-called war charities are functions which the State Council of Defense may properly assume. It is a pity the council did not act earlier, but then Mr. Moore has not been at the helm all the time. The opportunity to protect the public and conserve the resources of deserving charities was neglected during the period the State Council of Defense was misdirected by Mr. A. H. Naftzger, an inordinately long period inasmuch as Governor Stephens refused to act on his resignation for several weeks after it had been tendered.

Increase in the school enrollment of Oakland is one index to the growth of city population. The increase in enrollment during the last five years has ranged from 1800 in 1911-12 to 2800 in 1917-18, but the enrollment of pupils for the first three days of the present year shows an increase of 3300 over last year. Last year increase was abnormally high, the greater part being recorded in the last semester. But the present enrollment shows a jump of 500 over the last year's high rate. In preparing his budget of expenses the superintendent of schools could not estimate for an increase greater than experienced in the year last closed, but he made provisions for 500 pupils less than the number that have already presented themselves for instruction. The end is not yet. The increase will continue throughout the year. Provision must be made to meet it. Good school facilities attract new residents and new homebuilders; they are one of the strongest factors in the growth of a community. They must be maintained.

Reports through the neutral centers of German propaganda of revolutions within the boundaries of the central powers are so numerous that they must be regarded with suspicious reserve. The safest repository of hope for victory is Field Marshal Foch and the force he represents.

An item of twenty years ago stating that Dewey expended $45,000 worth of ammunition in the capture of Manila is of curious interest only.

NOTES and COMMENT

The campaign expense account of J. O. Hayes, in the sum of $5834.70, has been filed with the secretary of state, and shows that he got off easy, as state campaigns go.

The presence of President Wilson during the war drive will no doubt stimulate Californians to even greater Liberty Loan effort than they would otherwise make, but their record is enough to guarantee that they would not have been slackers in any event.

The reverse of the military rush to the hymenal "halter" is afforded in the case of the private who sues in a San Francisco court for a divorce, one of the grounds being that his wife choked him. Besides qualifying as a brave man he evinces discrimination in saying that he is convinced that his wife no longer loves him.

One thing has been pretty well demonstrated and that is that while the German propaganda fund lashed those who were entrusted with its disbursement had the time of their lives. And the chances are that the finale is going to be such that they will not have to give an accounting in the end.

Civilized countries which base their war rewards on loot would seem to belong to the dark ages, yet there is Austria, endeavoring to serve its people to lend the emperor money by telling them of rich plunder in store and to be taken from the Italians. And the Kaiser encouraged his people to think that they would be recompensed from rape and indemnities of enemy countries. He had his eye on the United States, and it does not need to be guessed what he would have done to us if he had prevailed.

If they are given half a chance they put things to right straightaway in the devastated districts. The day after the Germans had been expelled, mail service was resumed in sixty Alsatian towns.

Colonel Roosevelt can always be relied on to give expression to that which is in the general mind, but which the generality of men lack the courage or the ability to put into effective words. His declaration about loading on war work is the latest instance.

The Kaiser is reported to have fifty-four palaces, but the probability is growing that not one of them will seem like home when this controversy is settled. He may even have to go into lodgings.

The "tank" that goes lumbering over land is very dissimilar to the submarine that swims under water, but it is sitting about as effective war figure.

One of the war reports is that a wave of disillusion is sweeping over Germany. It is to be questioned, however, if any disillusion that counts will occur before the allied hosts cross the Rhine on their way to Berlin.

It doesn't matter much, but probably there is some curiosity as to what has become of the brace of crown princes who performed for a time at a safe distance in the rear of the firing line. The last mention of one of them was that he had been sequestered for dynastic reasons. It is an enigma to all.

This from such an undoubted Democratic source as the Woodland Democrat isn't bad:

"The San Francisco man who claims to be a hundred years old is probably trying to live long enough to see California elect a Democratic governor."

The Hanford Sentinel contributes it:

"To the California Democrats we commend Hamlet's soliloquy—'To be, or not to be,' in relation to the general election for the governorship."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

The gentlemen who have wiggled into the fresh fish game are not all in view yet. They are minnows still. But they have been swimming up and down the stream for sometime, with amazing rapidity. Their little empty heads have been peeping from the shelving rocks, and the dimpling waters. There were too many bright eyes glistening in the sunlight of the stream, for any one of them to be able to say to the other, "Thou art the man."—Colusa Sun.

Joe Sparks, associated with Sheriff J. W. Monroe and Dr. F. J. Bethel of Sacramento, in a large acreage of beans in the Sutter basin, brought in a valuable vine this morning. The vine is on display at the C. H. Vosburgh offices and indicates that the crop will go about 10 sacks to the acre. According to others who have beans planted in that section, the average crop will be ten to fifteen sacks per acre. This is considerably lower than last year, but the acreage planted is considerably larger.—Woodland Democrat.

Although the operating department declared yesterday in a report to the city council that there was the Cuyamaca system, the council, no necessity for taking water from after a long discussion of the water situation with a number of taxpayers, among whom were several members of the new advisory committee, has instructed the city attorney to prepare a contract purchasing water from the Cuyamaca system at 7 cents per 1000 gallons.—San Diego Union.

IN THE QUADRUPLE GROUP.

Japanese papers see great significance in the re-entrance of the United States into the group of financiers of the powers, formerly consisting of British, French, Russian, American, Japanese and German bankers from which she withdrew after President Wilson took office and from which Germany is eliminated.

"The four powers, Great Britain, France, Japan and Russia, have long been desirous of America's return to the group," says the Tokio Asahi. "The American people have realized the necessity of rejoining what is left of the group, if she would advance her economic activities in China." The editor then points out difficulties in distinguishing between political loans and commercial ones in which she withdrew the United States should be more explicit.

The Chugai Shogyo of Tokio rejoices in America's return to the Quadruple Syndicate and sees therein the first step towards American-Japanese economic co-operation in China. Japan has recognized the importance, even necessity, of having the United States as her partner in economic enterprises in China. On this ground Japan has often requested America to come back again as a member of the syndicate, that being also an earnest desire on the part of Great Britain and France. Therefore, the editor says, the action of America will be received by the Japanese people with glad congratulations. The Japanese people have many misunderstandings heretofore existing regarding enterprises in China, both political and economic—East and West News.

A GRAND OLD MAN

The death of Dr. Jacob H. Gallinger, of New Hampshire, August 17, signified the passing of the Grand Old Man of the United States Senate, one of the states and sanest Republicans the party has produced, a man who devoted the whole of his marvelous energy to the cause of good government, and, without exception, the best friend that the capital of this nation has ever had in Congress.

To recount the legislative career of Gallinger would require a volume and his vocation as a public servant well merits a fulsome biography. His extraordinary ability as a legislator is the more remarkable for the reason that he was educated for the medical profession, and in this field also he recorded marked success before attendance on theills of the commonwealth called him away from the hills of the flesh. This will be headed during the days of Reconstruction. He was elected a member of the House of Representatives at that time up to the day of his death—forty-seven years—his interest in and activity for the public weal never flagged or wavered. The higher call came with the history.

Most statesmen select one great measure on which to focus their energies and most of them have a pet measure with which to occupy their time when national issues do not hold the center of the stage. Gallinger's great measure was the upbuilding of our merchant marine, which he sought on every occasion to insure through a system of subsidization, the result of many years of patient study and investigation. Democratic opposition to his scheme prevented his realization of this great achievement, and in its place he saw foisted on the American people a socialist project of government ownership.

His pet measure was the elaboration and embellishment of the national capital. He possessed the characteristic Yankee thrift, and as a member of the committee on appropriations he took good care of the public purse, but Washington, the City Beautiful, was his one hobby to which he gave without stint. There are many monuments in the capital to keep his memory green. The cool streams and forest glades of Rock Creek park owe their conservation to him; the Lincoln Memorial, the beautiful bridges, and many other bared of "frozen music" were erected largely through the efforts of Gallinger, which bears his name.

One of the finest testimonials to his sense of civic beauty was the Mall, or Potomac Drive, on which he once lavished a great deal of affection and over which he frequently used to drive. Alas! The Mall is a sight today, its green acres covered with squat rubble war offices, and, unhappily coincidence, it was announced by the administration on the very day Gallinger received his fatal stroke that these war huts were to remain permanent.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

Many residents of Irish descent in Alameda county participated in the Irish fair at the Pavilion in San Francisco. One of the events of the fair was a military spectacle, "The Battle of Gettysburg," in which two companies of the First Tennessee Regiment took part.

Gov. James B. Sunderland delivered his inaugural address at the First Unitarian church.

Dr. W. A. Spencer of Philadelphia, orator and singer, lectured on "The Great Battlefields of the World," at the First Methodist church.

Labor Day was celebrated with exercises at Shell Mound park. E. J. Hill was president of the day. Addresses were given by J. E. McDougald of the Marble Cutters' union and W. MacArthur, representing the Sailors' union of the Pacific.

nently, though appropriations for their construction were made with the understanding that they were to be emergency structures. Thus do the Democrats degenerate what the Republicans sanctified to the use of the American people.

Gallinger will be missed—mightily missed. He was a credit to the nation and to the party to which he was so steadfast. He takes his place among the galaxy of departed great statesmen in which New England has been so prolific. He fought a good fight, he finished his course, he kept the faith.—Contributed.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

Diabetes Is Seldom Due to Excessive Sugar Eating, Says Scientist.

By DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

"Sweetness to the sweet, farewell," henceforth takes on a new meaning. Sugar is absolutely necessary for human life as it is at present constituted. Its importance to babies is found in the fact that it supplies in mother's milk nearly one-half, or 48.7 per cent, of the heat and energy units—calories.

Too much sugar in milk, as it is in condensed milk, makes an excess of fat. Over-weight of this sort is a rich source of food for disease germs, if they once take hold of the child.

A baby takes relatively much more sugar than does its elders. It is able to digest and absorb more than grown-ups.

Diarrhoea, dysentery, fermentation and other stomach or intestinal troubles in hot weather arise at times from too liberal a diet of sugar. Bacterial infections are more quickly healed and eliminated if there has not been much sugar feeding. A sugar-rich diet nourishes the germs, and the malady may become serious.

Diabetes, the sugar disease, however, is seldom traced to too much candies or sweets. It is more apt to be caused by disease or injury of the internal structures which have to do with storage, assimilation and accumulation of a human sugar reserve.

The intestinal juices help to convert sugar into sweet fluids to be stored away or crystallized in the muscles, liver and elsewhere. Babies, like adults, vary immensely in the amount of sugar they can take with comfort. Mothers' milk contains 7 per cent of an easily digested lactose or milk sugar. The milk of the cow contains only 4 per cent of a less digestible lactose.

Instances of troubled digestion, or even joint pains labeled with that defunct cognomen, "rheumatism," may be controlled by a simple omission of all sugar from the diet for ten days or so. Castor oil alternated with Epsom salts and a dilution of the sugar afterward will prove to be an effective measure.

If your doctor, by indefatigable tests and attention, discovers that your baby receives too much sugar it should be eliminated for a few days and bicarbonate of soda in twenty-grain doses administered. When the kidney fluids are discovered to be alkaline it means that the child is at last in good shape. Chalk and bismuth are also among the remedies.

Adams Accepts $46,404, Settling Old Auditorium Suit

TEN YEARS OF LAWING WITH CITY AT END

After ten years of litigation the condemnation proceedings instituted by the city of Oakland to acquire possession of the Civic Auditorium site has been concluded by the acceptance today by the former owners of the award of the jury, made in November, 1908. Charles Cole, secretary to Edson F. Adams, appeared at the office of County Treasurer M. J. Kelly with the vouchers and drew out the money $46,404.88. The money has been on deposit with the treasurer since the date of the award, November 4, 1908, drawing 2 per cent interest on the county. Approximately $10,000 was earned in interest for the county by the money. During the past ten years the case has been on appeal, the defendant owners contending for more money.

Answering the suit for condemnation, the defendants Edson F. Adams, John C. Adams, the estate of Julia P. A. Prather, the estate of Hannah Jones Adams and George M. Perkins, fixed the value of the property at $183,473. The jury at the trial awarded $54,138. George M. Perkins accepted the verdict awarding him $7457 as his share. The others appealed and the money was placed on deposit by the city with the court, who paid it into the county treasury.

ORDINANCE OF 1908.
The ordinance declaring the necessity for the acquisition of the property comprised in Lakeside Park and the Auditorium site for public purposes was passed by the city council December 3, 1906, under the administration of Mayor Frank K. McHugh.

According to the pleadings in the suit the interest of the several defendants in the $46,404.88 was as follows: Estate of Hannah Jones Adams, one-half; estate of Julia P. A. Prather, one-sixth; Edson F. Adams, one-sixth; John C. Adams, one-sixth.

The case has been in the courts since 1908, the procedure looking to the acquisition of the land having been instituted by the city of Oakland in 1908. The suit was instituted in the contents of the city and Adams has to do with the location of the line of the old Peralta patent, granted in 1820, and patented in 1827.

AUDITORIUM IS PAWN.
Upon the question as to whether a line located in the San Francisco area in a general way, and later described in field notes by surveyors' stations and calls, could be established by a trial jury in 1908, on the basis of a general description, depended whether the city of Oakland should retain possession of the land and the Auditorium, or whether it would be sold to the city.

Some of the most eminent attorneys in the Bay region have been arrayed against each other in the suit. For Adams and his associates there have been at various times as counsel Milton S. Hamilton, M. C. Chapman, Robert Black & Reed, John F. McDonald, Frank A. Shay and J. P. O'Brien.

The attorneys for the city began with the late John Edmund McElroy, honored by the city by the McElroy fountain in Lakeside Park, Charles E. Snook and Lin S. Church as special counsel, John W. Stetson, Ben F. Woolner, Charles A. Beardsley, Paul C. Morf and John J. Earle.

DECIDED IN 1908.
The original case, a procedure to condemn the land under the eminent domain act for public purposes, came to trial before Judge T. W. Harris of the Superior Court, after preliminary demurrers had been decided by Judge Harris in May, in September and October of 1908.

The transcript of the testimony makes a bulky volume of between 700 and 800 pages. Sections of this testimony, requiring many days of the actual trial, are given over to witnesses for the defense, and the stand to prove the Peralta patent boundary line could not be determined within a range of some four or five hundred feet.

Tribute to Shipbuilders at TRIBUNE Reception Oakland to Acclaim Rapid-Fire Launching Record

Program Will Exalt
Labor's Great Record

EMMA DE LIERE, who will sing at the Oakland T. & D. Theater Sunday morning at Tribune reception to shipbuilders.

Details have been completed for the big program Sunday morning at the T. and D. theater, when the shipbuilders of Oakland are to be the guests of The TRIBUNE and the theater, the occasion being the presentation to the Shipyard Laborers' Union of The TRIBUNE trophy for the contingent in the Labor Day parade best exemplifying the part of a craft in war work.

The program of special features will be presented for the entertainment of the shipbuilders, their families and friends.

The TRIBUNE trophy is to be a testimonial for all future time to the efficiency of labor in the war. That American labor has been efficient is proven by the tribute paid American shipbuilders through the government, which today announced that American shipyards have broken all records in constructing answers to the submarine menace.

Invitation has been extended to every union man in Oakland, and to his family, to be guests at the affair Sunday morning.

The program, which will start at 10:30 o'clock, will embrace many attractions. Allen Lane, the famous organist, will play on the wonderful T. and D. organ, and Emma De Liere, the singer, will be heard, as will Rush Ford, the baritone, Alexander Bevan, the famous grand opera star who has been conducting community singing at the theater, will lead the union men in patriotic community songs.

War pictures, direct from the front, first run, and never before seen in Oakland, will be shown. The trophy offered by The TRIBUNE for the union best exemplifying war service in the parade was won by Shipyard Laborers' Union No. 15439, and will be accepted on behalf of this union at the theater by President E. C. Carroll.

Admission tickets are to be distributed at the union headquarters in the Labor Temple, 510 Eleventh street, and also at the various shipyards. The members of the union plan to assemble at the Labor Temple Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and march to the theater, headed by the shipyard band, which will also take part in the program.

Watch The TRIBUNE for further particulars.

UNCLE SAM ASKS FOR JEWELRY TO HELP WIN WAR

The Red Cross Shop, which has maintained a melting pot for old gold and silver ever since its outset, has enlarged the scope of this activity.

This is in line with advice received today by Washington, in which it is stated that the government has decided to buy jewelry or scraps of platinum in order to get enough of the precious metal for war needs.

Platinum rings and other ornaments are sought. The regular market price, $105 an ounce, will be paid for pure platinum.

All those wishing to contribute their jewelry or scraps of precious metal are asked to bring it to the Red Cross Shop, 519 Thirteenth street. It will be sold directly to the United States Government at the highest market price and the money as usual turned over to Oakland chapter, for hospital supplies.

Those wishing to sell their jewelry will send it to Raymond T. Baker, director of the mint Washington, who will have, it is assayed and send check for the value. Jewelry should be removed before sending.

WORK BEGUN ON FIRST PARR PIER

Work on the construction of the first pier of the Parr Terminal company's pier on the western water front lease has commenced, it was announced by Commissioner F. F. Morse today. The cost of the first unit will be approximately $100,000. The ultimate cost of the improvement will be nearly $7,000,000, according to the plans under which the company engineers are now working.

The unit is located at the extreme southern end of the lease. The pier will be 500 feet long and 100 feet in width on crosswise piling. Later the plans call for a concrete warehouse to parallel the pier, while on the north side of the warehouse will be constructed another pier, which will be 1,000 feet long and 200 feet wide.

Repairs of the present apron wharf on the property will be made at an expense of $50,000. Spur track connections will enter the property along the wharf and connect with the warehouse.

Power Stock Issue Authorized by Board

Permission was granted the Bay Point Light and Power company, Contra Costa, today by the State Railroad Commission to issue $14,000 par value of stock and shares of $100 each at not less than $35 a share. The proceeds to be used as follows: $2,153.56 to pay notes, $4,270.24 to reimburse its treasury for earnings expended to finance capital expenditures, the remainder to be used in the construction of substations, primary lines and street light service totalling $33,525. The authority to issue notes is limited to September 27, 1918.

Beaten, Loses $300; But Hides Out $100

Although he saved $100 which was hidden in his shoes, Philip Alsera, a lumberman recently arrived here from Seattle, lost $300 to two footpads who held him up and beat him into unconsciousness at Fifth and Broadway early last night. Alsera was picked up and taken to the Emergency hospital, where it was reported that he will recover. When he awoke he stated he knows the men who robbed him and the police are making an investigation, following the arrest of Jose Jimenez and Manuel Schaven last night.

ALAMEDA MAN MISSING IN ACTION

ALAMEDA, Sept. 5.—Fletcher McDonald, Alameda draftsman, is missing in action on the western coast. He was killed in action on August 10. The draftman general has wired McDonald's parents from Washington that the young soldier has been reported missing and that no definite word of what has happened to him has come to hand.

McDonald was drafted on November 2, 1917, and was in Camp Lewis but a day and a half before being sent on to the east where he took ship after a week's stay. He was a Southern Pacific bridge carpenter and general mechanic and owing to his mechanical ability was rushed to France with the marines.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McDonald of 910 Taylor avenue in Alameda. He has a brother, Arthur, Alameda, and Christine McDonald. His brother James is now in France with the Canadian forces.

McDonald went into the front line trench on June 5 and went "over the top" in the construction of a bridge. He was home last a few weeks ago, telling of the hard, daily fighting he and his comrades were engaged in. He was in the famous American fight in which the Americans captured 500 to 600 Germans, including all the equipment and stores of the attacked Hun.

McDonald and his family came to Alameda to live three years ago. Besides being a bridge carpenter he was employed for a time at the Alameda Bethlehem plant.

Associations Join to End Profiteering

All the important business and commercial associations on both sides of the bay are co-operating under the leadership of the War Camp community service to the end of profiteering at the expense of men in uniform. Complaints in this regard will be investigated by a committee on commercial relations headed by Frederick Whitton, president of the San Francisco commercial club.

Speed Achievements
Here Reflect National

American shipbuilders and American shipyards hold the world's record for efficiency and rapid-fire launchings, according to official word from Washington today. During the month of August all previous records were broken by the delivery of a steel ship, aggregating 260,645 deadweight tons and 22 wood and composite ships aggregating 78,500 tons. The total for the month was 66 ships aggregating 340,145 tons.

Shipbuilders and shipyards have place in this splendid record of achievement and are prepared to swing the full weight of their efficiency to the establishing of an even more rapid record for the month of September. Working conditions at the local yards were never so thoroughly coordinated as at present, the result is a much greater degree of efficiency.

At the Moore yard, for example, the contracts call for a vessel every ten days until December 31, 1918. Additional yards are to be awarded the firm as soon as the three ways now under construction are completed. The management expects to have them in commission not later than September 30.

TROOP SHIPS FIRST.
The keels of giant troop ships of 20,000 tons burden will be the first laid on the trio of new ways, which are designed to accommodate vessels 650 feet long.

The launching at the Moore yard on September 22 will mark the inauguration of the firm's ship-every-ten-days program. The Zirkel, launched about two weeks ago, is to have its trial trip on September 16. The Zaca, launched on August 24, is now being outfitted and will be in commission by the middle of next month.

The previous high record for launchings at American shipyards was in June, when 12,159 tons. The highest British record was in May, with 295,911 tons. Schwab's figures include one Japanese ship of 10,600 tons. With this excluded the American August figures are 329,545 tons.

"It looks good," said Chairman Hurley of the shipping board in a telegram to the managers of the eastbay plants. "We've passed the submarine sinking trials with new production and we ought to keep a safe margin from now on."

American ship deliveries to the shipping board for the year with the August figures not included, are 1,312,751 deadweight tons, and the British figures for the same period are 1,359,542 tons.

Unofficial reports to the shipping board indicate that the total submarine losses in American waters from May to date are less than 100,000 tons, and including all fishing vessels are less than 100 ships.

INCREASE IN PROSPECT.
An increased demand for eastern shipyards is promised from now on and it has been intimated in some quarters the magnificent record of the western coast are to be equaled if not surpassed. To this challenge the managements of Eastbay yards reply: "Let 'em shoot, we're ready for them."

In explanation of the fact that shipyards to thus far meet the high records of the west, Charles Plez, vice-president and general manager of the American Shipbuilding Corporation, has issued the following statement: "It must be borne in mind that the yards on which we place dependence are new yards created in the war time and have yet through with the work of construction and that the old yards, not wholly devoted to navy work, will be in the way of meeting the demand, representing many different sizes and types of vessels."

CONFUSION DISAPPEARING.
"There is not a single old yard on the Atlantic coast which is devoted wholly to the construction of a single type of vessel. Tankers, cargo and passenger vessels are in the way of meeting the demand, representing many different sizes and types of vessels."

EASTBAY LADS GIVE LIVES IN LIBERTY FIGHT

News that her nephew, whom she, as an exemption board official, had sent on his way to France, had been killed in battle was received today by Mrs. J. R. Straven of 732 B street, Hayward, clerk of the Hayward board. Her nephew, Lee R. Griffin, a corporal, was killed in action, according to today's casualty list, in the course of her duties on the local board. Griffin, formerly lived in Irvington, where he attended school. He and his aunt moved to Hayward some years ago. He was employed in an Oakland store.

SERGEANT CARTER KILLED.
Sergeant Alfred Carter of 2021 East Twentieth street, Oakland, was also killed in action, according to today's casualty list, in the branch of the Oakland Bank of Savings, has been at the front. Dillon left as a member of the San Francisco base hospital unit, training at Camp Kearny. He was killed August 21, 1918, while on duty at the front.

He was a member of the Oakland chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

DIES FROM WOUNDS.
Otis Kaye Norton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Norton of 8102 East Fourteenth street, is listed as having died August 15 of wounds received in action with a machine gun company. He was 2 years old, married, and made his home with his parents. He was affiliated with Alpha Camp No. 101, Woodmen of the World. He is survived by two brothers, Charles L. and Edward F. Norton, and two sisters, May and Mabel Norton.

OTHER CALIFORNIANS LOST.
Other Californians listed in today's casualty reports include the following:
Killed in action: Corporal James A. Dunn, San Francisco; Private Harvey B. Adams, Fresno; Private Frank Dupre, Sebastopol; Private George D. Stupoulos, San Francisco; Private John C. Miller, Los Angeles; Private Joseph Andrade, San Jose.

Missing in action: Frank A. Coelho, Milpitas San Jose.

Men Are Selected to Study Charities

The investigation of the charities which solicit public support in the State will be made by the following: Chairman of the State Council of Defense to the war donations and speakers department:

Red Cross Work Is Done by Allotment

In order to avoid duplication, all Red Cross chapter work is being done in allotments assigned by the Pacific Division.

An allotment for 500 sweaters was recently received; the knitters responded at once to the call, and until another allotment is assigned Oakland chapter has no wool to give out.

New classes in first aid, elementary hygiene and home care of the sick and home dietetics will begin Tuesday, September 10. They will be held every Tuesday and Thursday evening at Technical high school. Applications should be sent to Dr. Eugene May, Oakland Chapter Red Cross.

"SHOO"! OFF GO FLOCK OF CHOICE HOMING PIGEONS

Money has wings, as Walter J. Harris, Franklin street commission merchant, discovered in an unusual way. What made the maxim all the more pointed was that it was Harris' money, but he didn't know it until he had "shooed" it off.

Harris' winged money was in the form of a crate of pigeons at $3 a dozen. Ordinarily he would haggle with the best of them over the price of those pigeons. But—

He discovered a dozen or more pigeons perched on boxes of tomatoes and other produce at the market. They appeared extremely tame, but he concluded they were some of the pigeons that wheel over the market roofs every day. He clapped his hands and said "shoo." The pigeons flew off and settled on neighboring roofs. Later when a customer asked for pigeons, Harris found the crate empty. A sparrow had broken off the crate, allowing the pigeons to escape.

They were the same birds that he had "shooed" out of the market. As they were homers, Harris figures he may have to buy them over again.

Capitalist Accused of Sugar Hoarding

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—Hulet Merritt, Pasadena millionaire, was under federal indictment today charged with hoarding sugar. The indictment charges Merritt with persistently hoarding sugar from November, 1917, to July, 1918, alleging that on July 25, five 100-pound sacks of sugar were seized in Merritt's office across the street from his palatial home.

GOVERNOR OF IDAHO TO BE SPEAKER HERE

Governor Moses Alexander of Idaho will be the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Oakland Lodge No. 252, I. O. O. F., tomorrow, the affair to be held at the Hotel Oakland at noon. Governor Alexander, who is president of Boise Lodge I. O. O. F., will speak on the topic, "The Part the Jews Have Played in the Great War."

An invitation to attend the luncheon has been sent out to all members of B'nai B'rith. Governor Alexander was has been spending the week in San Francisco, the guest of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Spiro, one of the most distinguished men who have come to the coast this month. Besides taking an active part in the political life of the commonwealth which has elected him to the highest office, he has given largely of his time to philanthropic and social service. While on the coast he has made an effort to meet personally the boys in uniform who have been assigned to the local home.

Investigation Made of Fatal Auto Wreck

Authorities at Pleasanton are today investigating the circumstances of an automobile accident in which Mrs. Theresa Lambert, age 55, of Tuolumne county, was instantly killed last yesterday when her machine, in which she was coming to Oakland struck a pile of soft earth on the highway near Pleasanton, breaking her neck and breaking her neck. The body was taken to the corner's office at Pleasanton in a hearse.

The automobile was being driven by Mrs. Lambert's young son, and the other passengers were Miss N. Nelson and Miss J. J. Nelson, both of Tuolumne. Although the machine completely overturned, the others escaped injury.

Post and Telegraph Offices May Unite

Investigation of the extent to which branch telegraph offices and branch postoffices could be combined and the work of each unit in accordance with orders received from Washington, under which representatives of the various telegraph companies will render a report on the proposed plan.

Conferences were held yesterday with Postmaster Charles Fay of San Francisco by officials of local telegraph offices and Oakland's attorney is shortly also to be looked into.

PRETTY BRIDE, MA 'DISOWNS', NOW DIVORCE

After a six months' honeymoon that followed a wedding that defied parental objections, Bonnie Elsie Horwinski, formerly Miss Bonnie Elsie Rawlings, Oakland girl, has filed suit for divorce against Robert Horwinski, prominent Alameda and member of an Oakland printing firm.

The wedding six months ago resulted in the bride being "disowned" by her mother, Mrs. John Rawlings, whose first intimation of the wedding came in a note from her daughter, informing her mother that she was "old enough to use judgment" in other things and so was able to do on this matter.

"DISOWNS" DAUGHTER.

Mrs. Rawlings said that the wedding announcements, sent out in her name telling of her daughter's marriage, were an insult to her, and that she "disowned" her daughter.

The couple in the meantime left on a honeymoon. The next chapter came in the discovery, on the "secret" filed at the courthouse, of the divorce suit, in which the nature of the complaint against the young husband is not disclosed. Horwinski refused to discuss the suit.

The Horwinskis were married April 12 of this year. Prior to the wedding Miss Rawlings was a stenographer in her husband's firm. The wedding took place at Trinity Church, and the couple left Oakland, the bride first typewriting a letter to her mother announcing the marriage, which her mother had bitterly opposed when she first proposed.

MOTHER ORBDATE.

"I'll never forgive them," said Mrs. Rawlings. "I am going to change my will. I am going to disown my daughter."

"Don't get excited and try to do this, that and the other thing," the daughter urged her in her letter. "It will do no good."

Horwinski says he has not yet been served with a copy of the complaint, and that he has no idea what his wife is charging him with.

Student Soldiers

On Eight-Day Hike

Eight hundred student soldiers, members of the student army training corps at the Presidio, are on an eight-day hike under the direction of Colonel Dismann, and during the trip will receive instruction in military campaigning of extended order and other branches of war maneuvers.

The men will return in time for registration day, September 12, and will shortly thereafter disband for their respective universities. Students from various colleges in the west are among the number to take the practice trip.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power are a result of doing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians in that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
